SEAT OF POWER

Modestly refined

The management of today and tomorrow deliberately dispenses with status symbols as far as possible. This underlines its dynamic management style: With flat hierarchies, managers lead on an equal level and demonstrate closeness to the team. As a result, you will find fewer and fewer opulent armchairs in sophisticated management offices. Instead, slender swivel chairs with a timelessly elegant appearance such as "Dauphin Signo" with integrated headrest are in demand.

The styling of the slender backrest instantly signifies maximum comfort: It recalls the double S-curve of the spine. The ergonomic seat, also available in a comfort version, is ideally attuned to the backrest element. Striking product details, such as the strikingly beautiful aluminium backrest bar as well as other refined aluminium components and elegant seams, make Signo a conference and executive chair range par excellence.

EXECUTIVE FUNCTION

Success in form and function

The new Signo conference: Perfection down to the very last detail emphasises the special level of aspiration in any sophisticated meeting room. Conference swivel chairs should be elegant and comfortable. Distinctive and yet formally understated. The new Signo conference embodies these characteristics in every facet. A clear shape, maximum seated comfort, beautiful materials and perfectly crafted details.

The exclusive executive and conference chairs in a slim design were developed especially for the needs of modern executives. Two different backrest heights, a tilt function and pleasantly simple height adjustment offer comfort for pleasant meetings.

TREND-SETTING

Matte black. The big trend.

Sometimes less is more. Reflecting the trend for matt surface finishes, you can now also get all aluminium parts of the Signo, the backrest bar and the ring armrests with a matt black powder coating.

In addition to this, there is of course the 4 and 5-star base in a new look with a matt black powder coating and on request even completely black castors.
